

T h e r e w e r e m a n y similarities between the two treaties. However, there were also some important differences.

SUPER POWERS

The Great War left all the Great Powers badly wounded. No new power emerged between the wars.

By 1945 it was obvious that two countries had become Super Powers. These were the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. They had massive military capability. Between them, they occupied most of what had been Nazi Europe. This caused tension at the the peace conferences.

Later differences emerged between the U.S.S.R over the Germany and the use of atomic weapons. This lead to the Cold War.

There were many similarities between the two treaties. However, there were also some important differences.

SUPER POWERS

The Great War left all the Great Powers badly wounded. No new power emerged between the wars.

By 1945 it was obvious that two countries had become Super Powers. These were the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R. They had massive military capability. Between them, they occupied most of what had been Nazi Europe. This caused tension at the the peace conferences.

Later differences emerged between the U.S.S.R over the Germany and the use of atomic weapons. This lead to the Cold War.

